Report of Value-Added Course on Communication Skills

GHG Harparkash College of Education for Women, Sidhwan Khurd, Ludhiana offered value-added courses from 14-03-2023 to 25-03-2023. 23 students joined this Value-added course on Communication Skills. Dr. Shally, Associate Professor GHG Harparkash College of Education for Women, was the coordinator of the course.

On the first day of this course, students are made aware of listening skills and how this is very important for effective communication skills. Students heard some audio stories with animation. The experts of the course Dr Navdeep Kaur, Asstt Prof tested and monitored the progress of the students through questioning, narration of the story, and spell bee.

On the second day of this course, students gave hands-on practice of reading. Students were provided with the reading materials and each student read the paragraphs of the story or poem and described it in her own words. Teachers rectified the wrongly pronounced words and the comprehensive ability of the students was also checked through questioning.

On the third day of this course, students gave hands-on practice of writing on a topic of their own choice. Suggestions were given regarding spelling, grammatical mistakes, sentence structure, and coherence in presenting the idea.

On the fourth day of this course, students were exposed to an open dialogue on a controversial issue and every student had to speak in the way she was comfortable. On the fifth day of this course, every student presented herself through declamation and the teacher suggested the students on the parameters of pronunciation, vocabulary, tone, intonation, voice modulation, gestures, and body language.

On the sixth day and seventh day, students were made to sit in small groups. They practiced sharing their life stories, fun facts, and any other thing they wanted to talk about. The rest of the four days were dedicated to peer group activities and library reading activities
